Highlights of the Seminar:

Spontaneous breakage due to Nickel Sulphide (NiS) inclusion is reckoned as the commonest cause that is directly related to the quality assurance and control during the course of manufacturing tempered glass. In the advent of a series of incidents on glass breakage, the control on the tempered glass has been tightened up. This workshop is tailor-made for the quality control supervisors as required under the PNAP APP-37. They are Technically Competent Persons of grade T3 (under the RSE stream) and of grade T1 (under the RC stream) working in the glass façade field.

The heat soak process and calibration requirement will be introduced to latest requirements as stipulated in BS EN 14179-1:2016. The documents and tests that need to be prepared and carried out by the manufacturer in the quality assurance would be cited. The techniques of calibrating the heat soak oven, the proper installation of the data logger with thermocouples on the glass surface and the rationale of installing an independent data logger by the TCP-T1 would be mentioned in great detail.
